

VAN GOGH PROGRAMME
CALL 2018 - 2019

Are you interested in research cooperation with French researchers? Are you looking for means to help pay for the costs of visits to start up the cooperation? Then the Van Gogh Programme may be the grant for you!

WILWEG.NL

The Van Gogh Programme is a travel grant that promotes exchanges between researchers in projects focused on developing science in a specific field of expertise. These projects usually involve fundamental research where multinational teams use each other's facilities, unique collections and research methods.

“The travel grant stimulates a strong interaction between two research groups! Funding is available not just for applicants (professors), but also for PhD students and postdocs, all in one single application.”

Who can apply?

Application is open to excellent researchers with an outstanding tenure track and international exposure. You have to be employed by a Dutch research and knowledge centre that collaborates with French researchers (or would like to).

An important prerequisite is that young researchers, especially PhD students and post doc students, actively participate in the project and exchange visits.

Your French colleagues can apply for a travel grant from the French Van Gogh Programme via Campus France.

“The relatively small amount of money is really effective in fostering collaboration. Thanks to short visits to each other’s laboratories researchers can build a joint research program. And joint supervision of PhD students really helps to work on the same research problem.”
